Don't wear it on your sleeve because the nose knows

What's worse: a runny, chapped nose or a ski glove slick with snot? Most skiers tend to have both, especially on those chilly, nose-dripping days. Enter the Snot Spot. A nifty little fleece sleeve (MSRP $9.99) that slides over the index finger of a glove or the thumb of a mitten and provides a soft and furry place to park a soggy snout. The removable and — this is important — washable sleeve was created by a trio of Vail skiers who plan to donate a portion of every sale of the Snot Spot to charity. So save your sleeve and protect your snout from the ravages of an icy mitten with the ingenious Snot Spot.
